COLLAPSE OF REPARATIONS PLAN LEADS TO BERLIN PANIC

Berlin Situation Is Cause Of Anxiety In London

BOURSE IS UPSET

American Commissioner Asked For Mines, Forests

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 25.—The serious ness of the situation is indicated by the panic on the Berlin Bourse. A further sensational collapse o the mark is feared.

The failure of the reparations negotiations, coupled with the Austrian crisis, is the subject of grave articles in this morning's papers It also seems to have been the most probable cause of Mr. Lloyd George's sudden interruption of his holiday to return to London today.

The papers dwell on the serious consequences for the whole of Europe that the economic collapse of Germany and possible social disorders there would entail. The Times is evidently fearful that M. Poincare will feel unable now to retreat from his uncompromising policy and will precipitate a catastrophe by some drastic action. The journal plainly tells him that he has blundered and urges France to refrain from any such action and the British Government promptly to seek a positive agreement with France upon terms which Germany can fairly be made to accept.

Berlin, August 24.—The reparations have ended and it is now reported that they have resulted in a plan which must be referred to the Reparations Commission.

During the whole of today, while the negotiations were continuing precariously, there was a panic on the Bourse, foreign currencies advancing hundreds of points every hour until holders declined to sell.

Newspapers confirm reports of many failures, chiefly of small banks and brokers. The Post Office has ceased to issue foreign money-orders.

A trade-union delegation called on the Chancellor and urged energetic measures to prevent the collapse of the whole economic life of the country.

(French Wireless)

Paris, August 24.—The Temps learns that as a result of the refusal by Germany to grant the two guarantees, claimed by France, namely the control of the Ruhr mines and the State forests, the German representatives at the negotiations have proposed a compromise.

They propose to submit the forests and mines to the control of an American commissioner.

Sir John Bradbury and M. Mauclere will meet Dr. Wirth today to reply to this proposal.

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, August 24.—Telegrams from Berlin depict a very serious situation with regard to reparations and that Germany has merely offered to deposit in the Rhineland 50,000,000 gold marks as a guarantee in case of default in German deliveries in kind.

Annual Picnic Of American Returned Students On Today

The American Returned Students' Club will hold its annual picnic at St. John's University this afternoon at 5 o'clock. C. Lee.

Members owning cars have volunteered to furnish free motor transportation between the Bubbling Well Tram Terminus and the university camps between 4 and 5 o'clock.

DOG DAYS STUFF

By Westa

MANAGER Gallop, of the Shanghai baseball team, is what you might call a "forward looking" guy.

Ever since he took hold of the team Herby has had one big idea in the back of his head, and that is: to bring about a condition of affairs under which the Shanghai Baseball Club can play its games in its own private park.

That is the end toward which all lovers of baseball in this town must work if we are to have a satisfactory solution of the problem here. Always, every season, and every day of every season, the club is under a heavy handicap in having to play its games at the Recreation Ground.

No useful purpose would be served by explaining, in detail, why this is true, and by the same token all the arguments in the world probably would not bring any alleviation of the difficulties incident to the present location of the playing field. The powers that control the Recreation Grounds at the Race Track simply do not understand that certain things are necessary for the successful operation of a baseball club, and in the absence of such an understanding it is useless to think of the present arrangements when contemplating the future of baseball here.

Let the real fans—the old baseball standbys in this town—reflect for a moment upon what we could do in a baseball way here if we had our own park.

First of all, we could start playing in the spring as soon as weather warmed up, and we could continue in the fall until it suited our fancy, and that of the weather man, to quit. As it is we have to forego a month of good baseball weather at both ends of the season.

Secondly, we could take the game out of the quasi charitable atmosphere in which it is now played, and put it on an earning and paying basis. With a park of our own we could have a scale of admission charges graduated to suit every purse, and best of all we could build a high fence around the park that would keep out the ever growing army of deadheads who "don't really care anything about the game," but who get to the present park an hour early at every game in order to have their pick of the free standing room. What a pleasure it would be to see some of those birds confronted by the necessity of paying their way in, or the alternative of standing all afternoon at a knot hole!

With the team on an earning basis we soon would be able to import teams from the Philippines, from Japan, and even from Honolulu and the States. This would insure real baseball here every season. Moreover, to meet this kind of competition we could afford to have three or four paid or partly paid players—subsidised players—on the team, so that, in the event of few chronic weak spots on the team we could substitute good men. As it is we have to see our teams hampered and held back, year after year, because of one or more hopelessly weak players. This year's team, for instance, would measure up to the average semi-pro or minor league teams at home except for two or three weak spots. And the reason we have to put up with those weaknesses is because we can't afford anything better, and the reason we can't afford anything better is because we are not permitted to charge admission at the games.

With our own park the club could put aside a moderate amount each year for the improvement of the stands and the playing field, so that, in a few years Shanghai fans could see good baseball under conditions approximating those at home. As it is the best we can afford is a dinkly little matshed with uncomfortable and even unsafe seating arrangements, and a roof that is no more protection against sudden rain than a sieve.

This is a matter that the baseball ol' timers out here should think about. It is not so much a question of money as it is a question of effort, and of willingness to co-operate actively with Mr. Gallop in his effort to bring the scheme he has in mind to a successful fruition.

It might be a good plan to call an extraordinary meeting of the club memerbs, to see whether by collective effort we can't get something done.

Chalmers And Spence Get Prison Sentences For Insurance Frauds

Former Given Eighteen Months And Latter One Year At Hard Labor By British Court; Jury Out Ten Ninutes

Sentences of eighteen months' and one year's imprisonment at hard labor were imposed yesterday afternoon by Judge Peter Grain upon G. Y. Chalmers and A. M. Spence after a jury in the British Supreme Court had found them guilty of conspiracy to defraud through bogus insurance company manipulations.

The jury was out only about ten minutes and after the foreman had announced the verdict Judge Grain stated that he entirely agreed with the finding. In giving sentence he allowed certain circumstances to enter as a mitigating influence, deterring him from imposing the maximum penalty—two years.

The collapse of Mrs. Chalmers as the return of the jury was announced and the facing of Chalmers with the record of a previous sentence, for embezzlement, in the Philippines, furnished a somewhat sensational climax to the case.

The morning session yesterday and the early part of the afternoon were devoted to examination of the final witnesses, including the two defendants, Mr. A. G. Mossop, Acting Crown Advocate, and Mr. J. C. Priestwood for the defendant Chalmers, then made their concluding addresses and Judge Grain instructed the jury at length, reviewing the testimony comprehensively. The jury retired at about 5 p.m. and returned to the court room a scant ten minutes later. As they filed in, Mrs. Chalmers, who had been sitting behind the dock, slipped from the bench and had to be carried from the court room.

Mr. R. W. Skinner, foreman of the jury, announced that the accused had been found guilty on the count of conspiracy to defraud, by false representation, such persons as should be induced to pay premiums to the "German-American Fire and Marine Insurance Co., of Baltimore, Maryland," or to the "World Insurance Underwriters of Jersey City, New Jersey;" and further found Chalmers guilty of the charge of obtaining $1,430.06 from Daniel de la Vega at Hankow by falsely pretending to constitute him agent for the two non-existant companies at that port.

CITE PREVIOUS CONVICTION

The clerk then read to Chalmers the charge that on April 14, 1919 he had been convicted on two charges of "estafa" by the Court of the First Instance at Manila and had been sentenced to 18 months' imprisonment on each charge and to pay an indemnity of Pesos 65,000. This the accused did not deny.

When questioned by the Judge, neither of the accused had anything to say.

Mr. Priestwood availed himself of the privilege of speaking on behalf of his client by making a plea for clemency, pointing out the difficulty of Chalmers' securing a livelihood in view of his past record and characterising him as a man of great misfortune.

In giving sentence, Judge Grain stated that the accused had been found guilty by the jury after a careful hearing and, in the case of Chalmers, after a very able defense, in which Mr. Priestwood had said everything on his client's behalf which could be said. The Court was bound to state its entire agreement with the jury and, on the evidence did not see how any other verdict could have been returned. The offense accused were convicted of was a very serious one for more reasons than one. In the first place it was an offense which smirched the British reputation for honesty in China. It was also serious because it had occasioned the defrauding of poor people. And because it indirectly tended to lower the reputation of all foreigners for honesty among the Chinese.

CHALMERS SENTENCED

Addressing Chalmers, Judge Grain referred to his previous conviction for fraud and stated that while it was true that the sentence was partly remitted, this was on condition that the accused depart to a certain country, being given funds to proceed there. Instead of doing so, however, he had chosen to come here and start again. The last sentence imposed was for 18 months. The maximum which this court could give for the offense was two years at hard labor. Judge Grain said that he hesitated to impose the maximum penalty as perhaps there was something in mitigation of the offense. Therefore, at the risk of being deemed too lenient he would not do so.

'JACK' KILKENNY, POPULAR POLICE SERGEANT, DIES

Passes Away At General Hospital After Brief Illness

A host of friends learned with a shock of regret yesterday of the death at the General Hospital during the early morning hours of Sergeant John James Kilkenney, one of the most popular and able members of the Municipality's detective staff.

Sergeant Kilkenny was taken to hospital August 8, suffering apparently from the effects of the sun. He had not been feeling well for some days before, but no grave apprehensions were entertained for his health by his friends.

Sergeant "Jack," as he was affectionately known to many here, was twenty-nine years of age. He was born at Bolton, Lancashire, and came to Shanghai to join the police department in 1913. He rapidly established himself in the affections and esteem of his fellows on the force and in those of a wide circle of acquaintances in civil life.

During his service with the police he has worked on and handled many notable cases for the Criminal Intelligence Department, to which he was assigned in 1916, and six months ago he was awarded the sixth class Chiao Ho decoration by the Chinese Government for efficient work in connection with the rounding up of a gang of postage stamp counterfeiters. For some time he was in charge of detectives at Central Station and he was also attached to Louza.

Sergeant Kilkenny is survived by a widowed mother in Lancashire. He had no other living relatives.

Funeral services for the late detective sergeant will be held at Bubbling Well Cemetery this afternoon at 5 o'clock and will be attended by members of the police force. Previous to the services at the cemetery a short service will be held at St. Joseph's Church on Rue Montauban at 4 o'clock, after which the funeral cortege will proceed to Bubbling Well, by way of Avenue Edward VII, Seymour Road and Bubbling Well Road.

Bowe Forgery Hearing Concluded And Case Is Taken Under Advisement

Charges Heard In U. S. Court For China Hinge On Conflict Of Testimony—Defense Leaves Way Open To Move For New Trial

Trial of Frank F. Bowe, who is charged with forgery, was concluded late yesterday in the United States Court for China and after the case had been submitted to Judge C. S. Lobingier the closing arguments were made by Mr. Leonard G. Husar, United States District Attorney who conducted the prosecution and by Judge Cornell Franklin who appeared for the defense.

At the afternoon session of the trial yesterday cross examination and re-direct examination of the defendant gave rise to a point in the case which paves the way for a motion for a new trial in the event that Bowe is found guilty.

In his business undertakings here Bowe has been associated with A. M. Spence and G. Y. Chalmers who were convicted yesterday in the British Supreme Court on charges of conspiracy in connection with an extensive insurance fraud operated in the names of two companies that had no existence. In the charge against Bowe it is alleged that he prepared a document purporting to be an insurance agency agreement to which he caused a name to be forged and subsequently sold the agency to an innocent purchaser for the sum of Tls. 1,600.

CONTRADICTORY TESTIMONY

Whether the companies referred to in this agreement were bona fide or not did not enter into the case against Bowe which hinges wholly upon the question of whether or not he caused the agency agreement to be forged. On this point the testimony of witnesses who reviewed the whole enterprise yesterday is contradictory.

In the course of his closing argument Mr. Husar laid much stress upon the testimony that was given by the Government's main witness concerning the signing of this agreement. The witness in question, C. J. Moench, engineer of the steamer Agnes Dollar, told in detail how the agreement was signed.

He said that while in company with a man by the name of A. Jewel, who was described by the District Attorney as a beachcomber and who has left Shanghai, Bowe asked him to sign the name of Clifford Mandeville to certain documents. He refused to do this, but said that when Bowe offered to pay $50 for the service Jewel agreed to do it.

Moench said he was present in Bowe's room in Frederick's Hotel when Jewel after some little preliminary practice signed six documents which were two insurance agency agreements prepared in triplicate. This is the basis upon which the charge against Bowe rests. In the course of the trial it was set forth that Bowe took the agreements to C. C. King and transferred to him the agencies for the sum of Tls. 1,000.

DENY STATEMENTS

At the hearing yesterday two witnesses for the defense, who also declared they were present in Bowe's room on the occasion that Moench and Jewel went there, denied any documents had been signed on that occasion. The discrepancy between the statements of Moench and those of the two witnesses for the defense was the point upon which the force of the

COLLINS' BODY IN STATE IN DUBLIN, FUNERAL MONDAY

Bitter Comment On Murder In American Journals

(Reuter's Service)

London, Aug. 24.—A vast crowd assembled at midnight at North Wall Quay in Dublin to await the steamer from Cork bearing the body of Michael Collins. The ship berthed at two o'clock this morning and the coffin was removed amid sorrowful scenes to a guncarriage, where it rested above an 18-pounder.

The procession passed slowly through the dark streets to the mournful notes of Irish pipes to St. Vincent's Hospital mortuary, the cortege including the Ministers of the Provisional Government, members of the Dail Eireann, and bareheaded men and women, many crying, while the rear was brought up by an armored car bristling with rifles held at all angles.

A grim reminder of the presence of irregulars in the neighborhood was afforded by the distant crack of snipers' firing.

The body is now lying in state in the City Hall, from where it will be removed on Friday to the pro-Cathedral. The funeral will be held at Glasnevin on Monday.

New York, Aug. 24.—All the morning papers condemn the assassination of Michael Collins.

The World denounces the tyranny of gunmen posing as super-patriotism and says that unless the Free State finishes the rebellion, Great Britain will. What little sympathy was left for the hopeless cause is alienated completely and for ever.

The Tribune declares that the murder is bound to cripple the already-weakened Provisional Government but that, on the other hand, it is certain to react so strongly against the Republicans that they will have no further political standing in Ireland and the Free State will be stronger than ever.

TYPHOON TOLL HAS NOT BEEN EXAGGERATED SAYS WITNESS

Graphic Story Of Disaster Sent To China Press

RUIN IS COMPLETE

Investigator Tells Of Urgent Need For Help

The first detailed description of the havoc wrought by the recent typhoon at Swatow is brought to Shanghai in the following report, sent to THE CHINA PRESS by Mr. S. M. Cowles, of the National Committee of the Y.M.C.A.

Mr. Cowles writes from Swatow under date of August 18, after ten days of investigation of the situation in that city and in the surrounding territory. His graphic description of the terrific damage caused by the storm bears out the gravest previous estimates of loss and lends telling emphasis to the appeals made for funds to relieve the suffering populace. Mr. Cowles was a member of one of the investigation parties sent out from Swatow to get definite information on the situation.

There can be no doubt now that Swatow and the Swatow district suffered one of the most severe typhoons on the night of August 2 that has ever been experienced along the China Coast. The earthquake of 1918 was considered the most terrific calamity that had ever befallen the section. But the earthquake and its experiences fade into insignificance as compared with the present disaster.

This typhoon, which began in the early evening and lasted for a good part of the night, was accompanied by a tidal wave which added manyfold to the destruction. Some one has likened Swatow to Ypres after its many bombardments. For those who experience the wreck of our own city, Swatow, and the job of clearing away the wreckage, including more than 3,000 dead, it has taken several days to get back to a normal way of thinking and living.

EVERY BUILDING SUFFERS

Every building in the city, foreign and Chinese, has suffered more or less seriously from the storm. In every place within Swatow, without exception, the first floor was flooded by the tidal wave from four to eight feet deep. Nearly all furniture, books etc., were more or less damaged. There are no trees and shrubbery that escaped undamaged. All gardens were ruined by the wind and the wave. Very few roofs were able to hold against the terrible force of the wind, so that aside from the flood of the tidal wave the heavy rain that came with the typhoon drenched everything. Thus the destruction is general and practically none escaped.

In the part of the foreign community known as Kakchieh, across the bay, about half of the houses are on the hills and they escaped the tidal wave, but in turn seemed to have got more of the wind and their loss was very heavy. The American Bubbling compound suffered very serious loss and the whole place still looks like a wreck.

The heaviest loss on each side was sustained along the bund. In the business section every pontoon for shipping was torn away and after the storm not one was left. The large godowns were battered and crushed in, making almost a total wreck, including the cargoes stored therein. Much sugar, beans, peanuts, rice, etc., was a total loss. The telegraph, telephone and electric light companies have all sustained very heavy loss. Eight out of ten of their poles have been torn down and their wires were matted and tangled until they had to be cut from each pole.

RELIEF AND SALVAGE WORK

Almost immediately after the storm a committee was formed composed of the Mayor (chairman), the president of the Chamber of Commerce and seven other leading business men for the purpose of disposing of the dead, clearing away the wreckage, salvaging in general, and making preparations for relief,

They assessed and collected funds from the business people of Swatow and begun a splendid work immediately. It is marvelous to see what they have done within ten days and what they are planning for the future for the relief of the city and the surrounding district.

The work of collecting and burying the dead came naturally under the direction of the Charitable Guild, which has been carrying on similar work in the past when we have had plagues and various calamities, such as shipwreck. They have been doing this type of work for the past twenty-five years and last year they collected and spent more than $30,000 for burying the poor of the city and the district. Six days after the storm they had practically finished their work. Until they did their work it was practically impossible for others to do anything, for there were few who could have endured the stench even in the main streets. The soldiers and police force have done their part well, too, in lighting and cleaning the streets, with general sanitation, and with protection of the city from robbers and lootings. Then too there has been much time required for the drying of food stuffs, clothing and various things and the streets have been the place where most of this had to be done.

No sooner had the committee begun to get things into shape in Swatow than they began to think and plan for the relief of those in the outlying district who were less able to take care of themselves. Eight days after the typhoon the relief committee asked the churches, including some of the foreigners, to help in making a survey to determine what were the true conditions. Reports have varied so that it has been hard to believe.

First reports were that there were at least 10,000 killed in the vicinity, but pretty soon the figure began to grow until it has now gone beyond 50,000, and I think that does not yet tell the whole toll of deaths. If the reports from the other areas have been made like the one on the Gua Sua area I feel sure that 50,000 is conservative.

Within the past three days I have walked more than forty miles in the stricken area. When I began I was very skeptical for I thought that the reports surely had been tremendously exaggerated. Since I have seen these places I believe that the reports are conservative enough, and I shall not be surprised if the final figure goes beyond 75,000. By the end of this week we will be able to state pretty definitely the true conditions, for there are several reliable parties working in the areas affected most seriously.

Our first day out we went through four villages at the back of the Kakchieh Island. In one village of four hundred, ten had been killed, one fourth of the buildings had been destroyed completely, and the men, women and children seemed all to be working hard to get things into shape. Some of the men were clearing away the wreckage and building huts, many of the women and some of the men were drying wet things, including wet rice and other food stuffs. Many of the men, women and children were in the fields digging peanuts and potatoes, while a few of the men were preparing and planting a new crop of rice. When asked if they needed food, they answered, "no." When asked if they needed money they said "no." The only thing that these people of this particular section need is time, and I feel sure that they are accepting their lot with the grim determination that means that they are going to do better in the future.

The second district assigned to us was the Gua Sua section. This district is a few miles Northeast of Swatow, bounded on the West by the Push Railway line, on the North by the river, on the East by the sea and on the South by another river. The section is between twenty five and thirty square miles. The land is low, being in the delta of the river. The chief occupation of the 50,000 inhabitants is farming with the group on the sea spending considerable time in fishing. The people have built very good dikes along the river but have never attempted to build dikes to keep back the sea. In the present flood the river dikes were very badly damaged and in some places almost completely destroyed.

We found that the villages along the railway from Phu Leng to Gua Sua have had considerable property damage. Many roofs have been blown off and some of the houses are down and in nearly every village there have been a few deaths. The tidal wave extended to this section, running from two to three feet deep, doing considerable damage to farm lands and gardens.

We told our native guide that we wanted to see the worst part of the section and he started towards the sea. We walked right across the plain for two miles in the hot broiling sun to find that most of the farms were not so badly damaged, even though they had been flooded by the tidal wave with salt water. The sweet potatoes and rice were not seriously damaged, but the indigo and melons were a total loss.

The farmers were busy at work in most of the fields and we saw them planting new crops of rice and potatoes. When we had gone two and a half or three miles the conditions began to change very rapidly and the fields were waste fields. The potatoes were all dead and there were no signs of living crops at all. The villages had suffered very heavily. Most of the houses in these villages were built of mud brick with light tile roofs or straw thatched roofs. The great majority of the houses and huts had been destroyed and from ten to fifty percent of the inhabitants had been killed and many of them swept away to sea. Many of them have nothing to eat beyond a few days and they will have to depend on outside help if they are to survive.

As we went nearer to the sea the degree of loss increased both as to life and property. We noticed after awhile that they were telling us how many were left rather than how many were killed.

A village of seven hundred had only one hundred left. One thousand had only three hundred left. The villages here were very close together and to an outsider they all looked very much alike and there was something of a sameness to the stories, but the figures were always different and usually very exact as to just how many had been killed or how many remained.

As we directed our guide to take us to the North he refused to go and upon being urged he said that he was tired and hot unto death and that he could not go any further. We sat down with him under a bamboo and after he had had a smoke and a little rest we urged him further.

He said, "I can't take you over there for those villages have not buried their dead and I can't stand it and I don't believe that you can stand it either."

We did not urge him further but returned by the river to the ferry near the railway line and made our way on to Gua Sua, for that was our goal. Here we found the head of the village meeting with a committee of the leading citizens to discuss the relief work for that section. They seemed to be going at things in a very intelligent manner. Here we collected much valuable information and they showed us very clearly that they were trying to do everything that they could do for the relief of the suffering.

In these villages along the railroad they say that they do not need a thing themselves but that they must have help for the people on the sea. They belong to the same clans so that it means that it is a question of helping their own people and they are willing and anxious to do it.

They are not only planning for immediate relief for the homeless and suffering but they are looking out for permanent relief. We saw a letter that the magistrate had written to the Canton Christian College for information as how best to treat the salt flooded lands and asking if there is any crop that will grow in these lands.

I was still skeptical regarding the reports that had come in so we secured a new guide from the magistrate at Gua Sua and asked that he take us to their worst section. Again they took us across the same kind of plain for about three miles before we began to see any villages at all. The farm lands were very much the same as they had been in the Phu Leng area. The first two or three villages we passed had had considerable damage but not any worse than many that we had seen. It was then that we wanted to return to the main road for we thought it was just the same as before. In the meantime we had picked up a guide from the next village, just ahead of us, and he insisted that we must see his village and the market place.

Within fifteen minutes we were at the site of the market place of only a few days ago. This market town had had more than two hundred stores and we figured that there must have been more than 2,000 inhabitants. The houses had been built of stone, cement blocks and lime cement and evidently had been very well constructed.

There was not even a remblance of a house standing. Literally not one stone was left upon another except as they had fallen in heaps at the hands of the terrific wind and waves. Even the roof timbers were all swept away by the water. Not only this market place but several other smaller villages had been wrecked in the same way, without a single house standing in the whole group.

We asked how many were left of the 2,000 the guide said, "more than 100."

Of the 30,000 who lived near the sea I am sure that 12,000 were lost and I do feel that this is conservative too. Many, and in fact most, of the dead were swept out to sea in this area. This has made it easier for those who remain to clear up the wreckage. However, we saw scores and hundreds of graves in the sand, showing the wonderful work that they have done in most of the villages. In all our travels through the stricken fields and villages we never saw the body of a human being. All that had not been carried away had been buried by the neighbors. We saw many carcases of animals, such as buffalos, oxen, and hogs and at times the stench was about all one could stand.

The natives are going right ahead, building huts to live in and clearing away the rubbish. They are determined to do better next time and I am sure that they will, provided they can have the help they need in the next few months. They have truly accepted this disaster as a challenge to build better but they cannot do it without help, for they have no food supply and no way they can get it, except it comes from the outside. Their fields have been badly damaged so that they will be unable to raise any real crops for at least one year and in many places for two years.

Most of the people want relief in the form of something permanent. They need dikes to keep the sea back and they need to repair their old dikes. They cannot do that for some time unless they have outside help. They say they can furnish the manpower if they can have rice furnished them, or if they are paid wages so that they can buy rice. If relief could come in this form it would mean permanent help and also would take care of the immediate need also.

Rice is being distributed in the most needy areas by the Swatow relief committee and some other agencies who are working in close conjunction with them.

There must come relief in a larger way than has come yet if the need is be met anything like adequately.

FOR REMOVING SUPERFLUOUS HAIR.

No woman who has any sense of beauty will deny that superfluous hair is one of the greatest drawbacks to good looks.

Realising this, women of all times have put themselves to any expense, and have endured considerable pain and discomfort in order to rid themselves of this great disfigurement.

Nowadays electrolysis is a prevalent "cure" for this evil, but in reality this process involves a great deal of unnecessary expense, waste of time and pain.

The simplest quickest, and most effective treatment can easily be carried out by any sufferer, in the privacy of her home. This is the recipe:

Procure about 1 oz. powdered pheminol from your chemist; mix a sufficient quantity with a few drops of water into a stiff paste. Apply this carefuly and thoroughly to the hair you wish to remove, and allow the paste to dry. In a few minutes it can be gently scraped away. The skin is left absolutely free from hair, and should then be carefully washed in warm water, and if desired, lightly dusted with a little talcum powder. (Advt.)

TUNG KANG FLAYS MILITARISTS FOR ROBBING COUNTRY

Former Finance Chief Here Says Situation Seems Hopeless

Peking is insolvent and only the realisation of this fact by the city militarists will save the nation from bankruptcy.

This is the gist of an interview given to newspapermen yesterday at the Sin Lee Sha Lodging House, on Hupeh Road, by Tung Kang, erstwhile Minister of Finance who quit his post after being assaulted by members of the "salary demanding brigade." Tung is here to accompany Mr. Chow Tsze-chi, former Acting Premier, on a trip to France and will sail with Chow on the Empress of Australia on Tuesday.

While admitting that he knows nothing about finance, he suggests five remedies for the country:

1—Superfluous troops must be disbanded so that their wages may be utilised for the promotion of big industries.

2—National and provincial revenues must be kept distinct. These intended for the Central Government must be remitted in Peking without failure.

3—There should be a thorough housecleaning regarding the tobacco and wine taxes, the total receipts for which amount to over G.$30,000,000 in the United States and several million yen in Japan.

4—Although he opposes any further increase on the tax on the salt industry, Tung believes that there is much corruption in that department, and says reorganisation of the entire system is imperative.

5—A general strike among the officials in Peking is expected in the near future on account of the failure of the government to pay the arrears and the ex-minister suggests that the staff of each ministry should be reduced to three or four scores of officials, which number should be sufficient to handle the affairs of any ministry. At present each ministry has more than 300, he says.

"The biggest enemy for Peking finance today is the militarist," said Tung in part. "While the officials are clamoring for their meagre salary, the Inspectors-General and Tuchuns keep the telegraphic wires hot with demands for military expenses. Millions or hundreds of thousands are asked at one time. No Finance Minister is capable of coping with the situation.

"Almost 75 percent of the total income of the government is being devoted to militarism. And even this is not sufficient to satisfy the greed of the militarists. Practically all the money due to the Central Government by the provinces has been seized by the military chieftains. Shansi is the only province which remits its dues to the Central administration regularly. Yet the money thus seized by the warlords is sufficient to meet their expenses. On top of this, they demand further sums for their soldiery.

"The Ta Ching Dynasty depended a great deal upon the customs receipts for its finance. Today even the most flourishing customs house like the Fengyang, Anhui, Bureau has failed to remit a single cash to Peking.

"No longer can we secure any foreign loans, because all the national resources fit for security have been pledged for some loan or other. The only revenue left to the Central Government consists of the salt surplus and the customs surplus. But now all of them have been pledged for the sinking fund for government bonds. The future of national finance seems truly hopeless."

Chalmers And Spence Get Prison Sentences For Insurance Frauds

and, although perhaps he ought to give a two years' sentence, would give one of 18 months.

To Spence the Judge stated that his case was somewhat different. He thought that Chalmers's had been the leading mind in the conspiracy and in view of this and of the fact that accused's record heretofore had been clean he would make the sentence less severe, but nevertheless make it somewhat severe in order that it might serve as a deterrent. He would therefore sentence the accused to twelve months at hard labor.

TESTIMONY TAKEN

The first witness questioned when the hearing was resumed yesterday morning was Mr. Daniel de la Vega, who was induced to take over the Hankow agency of the bogus insurance firms. He testified that he met Chalmers and Walter G. Wallace, business associate of the former at that time, at a hotel in Hankow and that Chalmers offered the agency and asked a deposit of Tls. 1,000.

An agreement was drawn up and was signed by witness, Chalmers and Wallace on July 4 and the Taels 1,000 was paid the following day, the agreement being dated July 5th.

Mr. Daniel de la Vega continued: "Bowe and Company went in liquidation last February. I went to the hospital and when I came out, Bowe asked me to share rooms with him at Frederick's Hotel and later at Peitaiho Lane. It was generally understood that I was to take over his import business.

"Bowe had several good agencies in the import line here. I took offices at 8 Kiangse Road as an import and export merchant and I was to do all the import business and part export. Mr. Chase was to be in charge of the insurance end. We decided to advertise for a compradore. Bowe put the advertisement in the newspaper and paid for it. Chase was recognised as the manager of the insurance department and it was his duty to interview insurance applicants. When he was not in the office, I did.

Chase did not agree with Bowe and he thought that Bowe wanted too much money. Chase went so far as to get an office. The first day that I knew about the companies was the day when they gave me the compradore's agreement to sign. I did not know the names of the companies at the time the agreement was signed. Chase was supposed to sign the agreement.

THOUGHT FIRMS GENUINE

"Bowe gave me the names of the companies. I understood them to be genuine or else I would have had nothing to do with them, I thought that these two companies formed a part of the other insurance companies of which he spoke. Bowe's idea was to run these companies, get compradores and agents. I was going to pay him Taels 500 for the insurance business and Taels 500 for the import department. It is absolutely untrue that I knew these companies were not incorporated.

TELLS OF TALKS

"It is absurd to say that I was told I should not proceed until I heard from Bowe in America. I know very little about insurance. I received two checks from the compradore for Taels 250. My idea at that time was to appoint agents for the companies.

"Wallace came to Frederick's Hotel at the beginning of March. The money that the compradore paid me I handed to Bowe. I also paid Taels 500 to Bowe for the insurance business. I saw Wallace again on April 30 at the corner of Kiangse and Foochow Roads. He was then selling paper for Sonn Brothers and Company. The next day he came around with samples. I did not speak to him about taking over the insurance business until three or four days later.

"Wallace was getting no salary from Sonn Brothers and said he wanted at least Taels 250 and ten percent. I told him the best thing I could do was take over the agencies. I was getting 15 percent and the compradore five percent. Bowe did not care who had the agency so long as he got the money. A few days later Bowe had trouble with the E.P.S. hotel and he phoned the office. Wallace was there at the time and said he would guarantee the bill for Bowe. The latter left Shanghai in May and I understood that Wallace was to have the agencies.

"Bowe knew that I had no time to worry about agencies. Under the compradore agreement I received Taels 500 on May 16 and this was turned over to Wallace. The latter signed an agreement and took over all responsibility. I understood that he was to remit the amount to Bowe. When Wallace returned from Ningpo the office was ready for business and the compradore had a number of applications for policies.

"Wallace asked me whether he was working with Bowe it was generally known in the office that he was going to secure more insurance agencies.

Continuing, Chalmers said: "Bowe and Company went in liquidation last February. I went to the hospital and when I came out, Bowe asked me to share rooms with him at Frederick's Hotel and later at Peitaiho Lane. It was generally understood that I was to take over his import business.

"Bowe had several good agencies in the import line here. I took offices at 8 Kiangse Road as an import and export merchant and I was to do all the import business and part export. "Wallace asked me whether he in communication with Bowe. I told him I had no power of attorney and insisted that I wanted something to free me from responsibility if he signed.

"He communicated with Bowe at Chefoo and got a reply.

I did not sign the agreement as principal. It was signed by Wallace as principal. The contract was never cancelled. It was in my contract file and could be had at any time.

AS TO COMPRADORE

"With regard to the advertisements I had nothing to do with them. The compradone wanted to insert advertisements in the papers but I absolutely would give him no permission as he had not fulfilled his agreement. I told the compradore that Wallace was responsible. I heard some talk about changing compradores. Wallace told me that he had a compradore who would put up Taels 1,000. I said that so far as I was concerned it was of no importance to me. The letter to the compradone was in the nature of an ultimatum to pay up what he had to pay or get out. I did not write that letter.

"I spoke to the compradore about it and explained the circumstances. I told him not to pay Wallace that amount. The letter was written by Wallace. I knew that he had received $1,000 as Dzung informed one of my clerks.

SAYS TOOK NO PART

"I took no part in the working of these insurance companies. I was not consulted about risks or policies nor did I sign any policies.

"With regard to the letter from the United States Consulate-General, I saw the letter as Wallace showed it to me. I advised him to see the Consul.

"I went to Hangchow and Nanking on holiday. The agents in both cities were appointed by the compradore. I had intended to go to Hankow for a long time in connection with the import and export business where I had prospects. I took no samples with me as I arranged for them to be sent to me.

"I met Vega at Hankow. First of all, Wallace broached me on insurance and naturally when Vega came along I was there. I did no negotiating with Vega at all about the agency. I might have joined in the conversation. I did tell him that offices had just opened at Shanghai. I typed out Vega's agreement as Wallace's clerk did not happen to turn up at the office. I counted the money and handed it over to Wallace."

CROSS-EXAMINATION BEGUN

Cross examined by the Crown Advocate, Chalmers said the North China Trading Company was his business and so was the Northern Steamship Company, which chartered the s.s. Ralph Moller for $10,000 a month.

What capital did you have?—None.

The boat was chartered for several months and at the end of the six months you were still owing $20,000 odd?

Mr. Priestwood objected to this question.

The Crown Advocate said he was leading to the fact that the accused Chalmers was a man of straw. He was not suggesting any criminal act.

Your compradore had to guarantee you to a considerable amount till the company went smash?—Yes. I am not to blame for that.

When you started at Peitaiho Lane with Bowe what was your financial standing?—Very small.

The same I believe as Spence's?—I cannot guarantee at all.

You worked with Bowe when Bowe had his company and you told us that Bowe had the Colonial Fire and Marine Underwriters of Montreal. Did you look after it?—No.

You knew that Bowe was arrested in connection with that insurance business, and you told us that you actually wound it up after he was arrested?—I was in charge when he was arrested.

You say it was generally known that he was expecting the agencies of other companies. Is that before or after his arrest?—Before, in December last.

After his arrest there was no more question of any more agencies?—I do not know anything about it. I do not understand the question.

You say that you thought that Bowe was the agent of several genuine companies after his arrest?—He was as far as I know. He told me.

HAD NO AGREEMENT

You heard what Bowe said, that he agreed with you that you should take over the agencies of these other two companies at Tls. 500 as and when they were incorporated in America?—That is not true.

And you say you thought they were already incorporated?—I took them to be genuine. I cannot understand how a man like Bowe could go to America and incorporate companies.

You say that Bowe's firm was in good standing. He was not solvent when he wound up. He was owing money?—He was owing money to the banks.

And you say that in spite of that, Bowe handed you certain agencies?—He did. He handed me the agencies for the Santas, Durateux, etc.

Had you any agreement with Bowe—I had no agreement.

And you say you agreed to take over the import agencies for Tls 500 and another Tls. 500 was to be paid for the insurance business?—Yes.

Did you ever pay Tls. 500 for the import agencies?—I did not.

And you say that you paid Tls. 500 for the insurance?—I paid a little more than Tls. 500. I paid Tls. 250 on the day I signed the agreement, and on the date Bowe left I paid Bowe's hotel bills, a little over $100, and $200. It was on the understanding that he would give me the power of attorney for the agencies.

You told Mr. Priestwood that you had paid Tls. 500. Do you now wish to qualify that statement?—I paid Tls. 250 for insurance and the rest of the money was general.

Where did you get that money from?—From my export compradore.

In Exhibit II you signed the name of "A. P. Chase" and initialled it. Why did you not sign your own name?—Bowe typed it and I signed it.

WAS COMPANY MANAGER

As a result of the advertisement was any compradore engaged?—I engaged an import compradore not as a result of this advertisement. Spence got a compradore as well for his Literary Digest. Three compradores were secured.

When did you take 8 Kiangse Road offices?—On April 1.

What was your object in engaging these two rooms?—For the import business, namely for the Celestial Mercantile Company.

The name of the Yorkshire Trading Company has been mentioned?—I was the manager of this company. I occupied the rooms of the Yorkshire Trading Company. It was a company that was engaged in the manufacture of cigarettes in Shanghai. It had its own compradore.

Did Bowe tell you about the capital of these insurance companies?—No. He had no balance sheets.

You knew he had policy forms and warranty slips printed locally?—I did.

In fact bills for the printing of them were presented and paid partly on your own compradore order and that of Wallace?—Yes, precisely.

The printer said that the slips were presented at Peitaiho Lane. How came you to have them in your office at 8 Klangse Road.—When the compradore agreement was signed they were taken to my office.

Did you have any agreement with Bowe?—No.

Did it strike you as peculiar, if genuine companies that they should have their policies printed here?—Not at all. The Colonial Marine and Fire Underwriters, which is a genuine company, had their policies printed in Shanghai.

Spence, in the witness box, said he heard discussions about the insurance business while living at Peitaiho Lane but took no part in them. On June 9 Wallace showed him a letter from the U. S. Consul and asked his advice. Witness drafted a reply to the letter and offered to help Wallace, gathering that he had "had a slight difference with the American authorities before."

Regarding the signing of documents, witness stated that before Wallace left for Hankow he informed the compradore and others of the office staff that witness would sign per pro for him during his absence. In consequence he did sign policies. He had no compradore order book and no authority to sign orders for money. After Wallace had been arrested witness refused to sign any more policies and so informed the compradore.

He denied that he had authorised Wallace to say he had been appointed agent by Spence. He understood Wallace was head of the insurance companies and that everything was in order. He denied that the letters written to the U. S. District Attorney and the American Chamber of Commerce were in the nature of a bluff.

Strike In Havre; Docks At Standstill

(Reuter's Service)

Havre, August 24.—The docks are at a standstill owing to a strike of masworkers and builders as well as of 6,000 dockhands. Pickets are active. They have cut off the electric current and thus forced others to cease work.

Calais, August 25.—Damage, amounting to several million francs, has already been done by a big outbreak of fire in the dock-sheds here last night. The cause of the fire is not known. The sheds are still burning and the flames are spreading disquietingly owing to a strong wind. Firemen from Calais and neighboring places have arrived on the scene.

Baseball Fans Presented Gink Fowler With Anything Within Reach

Stop, Look and Listen:

While traveling through the South with a Fall line of children's limousines, I stopped off at a small town near anywhere. Having nothing to do and being in a hurry to do it, I went out to the local ball park.

A team of visiting irrigation canal pilots were playing the home town clowns. Gink Fowler was the umpire. He made one decision and the hinges busted off the cuckoo clock.

I don't know where Gink went. But wherever he was going, he must have got there in five seconds. Because he was running like a rabbit in wolf time.

If he ever was a champion, then I'm next. I took a punch at him and knocked him for a mummy.

Yours with ten per cent off for cash, JULES RUBY, Broadway.

Mr. Ruby's flagrant confession that he tossed bruises at a hopeless umpire is one of the most charming diaries ever published while the jury deliberated.

But, my country, right or wrong. It's got to the either.

Mr. Ruby doesn't state what town the irresistible acrostic occurred in. The Boots League was a five-town circuit and very elastic. They used rubber money.

Gink was not a man to be intimidated by force, or any other breakfast food. He stood and fell by his decisions, in the order named.

If he ever fled from an impromptu riot, it wasn't because he was not skilled in the manly art of selfish defense. Whenever he scooted loose from a community panic, he was going to call the doctor.

Now, there are many ways in which a refugee can skid away from contagious knuckles. If he runs methodically, he is simply cautious. If he gallops enthusiastically, he is timid. But, if he scampers wildly, then he is going to call the physician.

That's what Gink always did. When civic unrest broke loose, Gink was the first to page the M. D.

There is some suspicion that Gink dodged many cafeteria dinner bills by looping off to call the doctor. But they can't prove this, as nobody ever found his thumbprints on a meal check.

Ordinarily, the average umpire calls the family guardian when his opponent is sick. That's where Gink shone like the parlor lamp on Sunday night.

He always called the doctor when his foes were too healthy.

Then he and the doctor would go for a buggy ride and some sponge cake, while Deacon Kelly told about Goldilocks and the Three Bears. Meanwhile, the Boots League was making preparations for the opening of the pennant season.

Every citizen put on his earmuffs and pantomimed a speech.

THREE CHAMPION BASEBALL TEAMS MAY PLAY AGAINST SHANGHAI ONE WEEK HENCE

Osaka Diamonds, Champs of Japan; Fort Mills, Champs Of Philippines; And Peking Marines, Champs Of China, On Tap For Big Series At Hongkew Park

Today's Game:
Shanghai vs. Meiji 3:30 p.m.

A grand finale of baseball is on tap for local fans, with three champion nines of the Far East meeting Shanghai in a four cornered tournament commencing not more than a week hence. The Osaka Diamond nine, the champion team of Japan; the Fort Mills team, the champions of the Philippines; and the Peking Marines, champions of China, may be seen here soon in a tournament against Shanghai, which will decide beyond all discussion the merits of the various nines in the Far East.

The Marines already have been engaged to arrive here for games commencing a week from today, and should other prospective nines come through for the tournament they may be hurried so as to arrive on Tuesday or Wednesday. The Diamond nine, which played here through the Olympics and Open Games last spring, and are yet intact or stronger, have been wired for. Major Dent, officer in charge of the Fort Mills outfit has wired his commanding general for permission to remain over to play his nine in the big tournament. It will be known definitely this morning, when responses to various cables are received whether or not the Far Eastern champion series may be played.

The proposed series, it is believed is the outcome of the recent defeat of the Meiji university team in two straight games by the Fort Mills team. The Japanese are challenging the soldier team to meet their champion Diamond nine for the title. They have agreed to play the Peking Marines in the tournament, inasmuch as the Marines already have beaten the Philippine soldiers in a series and have won 3 games in five from the 15th Infantry at Tientsin. Shanghai of course will play all of the visiting nines, with an excellent chance of copping a Far Eastern title never made so decisive before.

Should the Diamond nine wire before 10 o'clock this morning that they will come to Shanghai for the series, Major Dent will cancel his reservations on the C.P.O.S. liner for Manila, provided again that he receives his General's permission to remain over for the games. Manager Gallop will immediately wire Peking to arrive here as soon as possible and the big tournament will be on.

The games will most likely be played at Hongkew park. The restrictions prevailing on the Recreation Grounds against admission charges for sporting events would render the tournament impossible there. With five thousand or more dollars necessary to raise for travelling and hotel expenses for the three big baseball squads, it will be necessary to play where gate privileges may be figured upon. Manager Gallop plans also on erecting a big new grand stand at Hongkew Park with a seating capacity of 1,200 or more for the games.

Shanghai meets Meiji University this afternoon commencing at 3:30 o'clock in the second game of their series of three. Meiji already has a one-game lead over the local players, but with added pitching strength and better condition of the whole local nine it is expected that Shanghai this afternoon will even up the series. The third game will be played Monday.

Bowe Forgery Hearing Taken Under Advisement

The name alleged to have been forged is that of one Clifford Mandeville, who is said to be in America. When a suggestion was presented yesterday by Judge Franklin that a cabled question be forwarded to this Mandeville, Mr. Husar was unwilling to accept as evidence in the case any answer that might be made and the suggestion then was put forward by Judge Lobingier that arrangements might be made to obtain Mandeville's deposition by forwarding a set of questions in today's mail.

Judge Franklin then advanced the view that the Court might see fit at the present time to rule that sufficient evidence to convict had not been presented, which would render needless the expense and delay that would be entailed by moving to take Mandeville's deposition.

Judge Lobingier, however, was unwilling to give a ruling of the sort indicated, but he suggested that the case might be submitted as it stood and later, if Bowe were convicted, a motion for a new trial at which new evidence could be brought forward would be entertained. After some discussion leaving the way open for the defense to offer such a motion the case was submitted to the Court.

BOWE DENIES CHARGES

When the trial was resumed yesterday Mr. Franklin made the opening statement for the defense asserting that he would prove that Bowe had actually received the two documents from the United States, via Japan, and that they were not written in Shanghai as alleged by the prosecution. The defense would prove, Mr. Franklin said, that the documents were not signed in Bowe's room at Frederick's Hotel as testified to by the witness Moench for the prosecution, and that they would show motive for Moench testifying as he did. Mr. Franklin also asserted they would prove that Clifford F. Madeville was not a fictitious person as alleged by the prosecution.

Mr. F. Cruse, 19, a Portuguese clerk living at C B 780 East Yalu Road, was the first witness called by the defense.

Mr. Cruse testified that he had been employed by Bowe for two years and that when he was in jail he give him (Cruse) the key to his mail box in the American Post Office and gave him permission to open his mail and take charge of his affairs while he was locked up. He received a letter containing the two insurance documents, he said, and upon opening them saw it contained agency contracts and that the contracts were signed by Clifford F. Mandeville. The documents were mailed from Japan by S. Bowe's agent there, he said. Cruse identified the documents in question

After Bowe had been released from jail Cruse said he worked for him at the Frederick's Hotel room where Bowe transferred his office. About a week after Bowe got out of jail, he said, two men called on him, and they talked for several hours in the room. He had heard no talk of Jewel (whom the prosecution alleges signed the documents under directions from Bowe) signing the contracts, nor had he seen either of the men writing anything while in the room.

Cross-examined by Mr. Husar Cruse said that he always opened the mail and later took it to Bowe after he got out of jail despite the fact that the jail was just across the street from the post office.

Bowe was not doing any business, he said, but he went there partly to keep him company.

How did you set the time?

I was sitting just across from the clock and looked at it every once in a while.

You appear to have been watching the clock all the time.

MUSTACHE AND OVERCOAT

You say one of the men was "a tall man with no mustache" and the other man was "shorter and wore an overcoat?" Yes.

You were busy all the time sorting documents. How much time did you work and how much time did you observe all these details? Oh, about half and half.

You've been calling on Bowe about twice a week since he has been in jail? Yes.

And since the last continuance of the case you've been coming nearly every day? Not every day.

You discussed the case? Yes But you didn't say anything about the documents? No.

KOREAN TYPIST TESTIFIES

Lee Ming-su, 17, a Korean typist, also formerly employed by Bowe was the next witness called He testified as to the same incidents at the room in Frederick's Hotel as he was in a porch off the room filing papers at the time. He saw no documents signed and heard no conversation concerning the documents. Once in his testimony he became mixed up and said he couldn't see into the room, but upon being reminded on a statement he had made to Mr. Franklin Thursday said he could see what was going on in the room. He also described the two men as "a tall man without a mustache" and a shorter man with an overcoat."

Cross-examined by Mr. Husar the Korean typist asserted he had not talked the case over with either Bowe or Cruse. He knew no papers were signed because he and Cruse were friends and Cruse would have called him if there had been any, he said. Caught between Mr. Husar's question he finally said he wasn't looking in the room any of the time.

BOWE TESTIFIES

Mr. Bowe next took the stand in his own defense. He testified that he was [illegible] married, and had a wife and one child living in New York. He had been in China on and on for 10 years, he said, and had had two firms of his own here during the last three years.

Mr. Franklin called Mr. Husar's attention to the fact that Bowe had an honorable discharge from the United States Army as evidence of his good character, but Mr. Husar retorted he had known of men honorably discharged from the army who had committeed murder. Bowe testified that he first met Moench (chief witness for the prosecution) on North Szechuen Road and that later he came to his room at the Frederick's Hotel. At no time, he said, had he talked to Moench about insurance contracts or offered either him or Jewel money for signing such contracts. On February 19, he said, Moench and Jewel came to his room on a friendly call and no documents were signed there or any other business transacted.

ABOUT MANDEVILLE

Bowe testified that Clifford F. Mandeville (the name of the man he is alleged to have forged) was not a ficticious person, but that he had known him personally for twelve years. At the present time he said Mandeville was living on Winfield Avenue, Jersey City, New Jersey. He had last seen and talked to Mandeville, he said when he was in New York in March 1921, when they discussed the formation of the two insurance companies in question. It was decided at that time he said that he would have the agency for all China.

In December, January and again in February he had heard from and written to Mandeville, he said, referring to the two companies. He had also had correspondence, he said, with the Export Finance Corporation of 40 Wall Street, New York, in which Mandeville's name was mentioned.

Mr. Franklin made an attempt to have the letters from Mandeville and the Export Finance Company introduced in testimony but was overruled by Judge Lobingier on the grounds that the letters were hearsay evidence because the alleged writer could not be cross-examined. Judge Lobingier, after considerable argument between counsel said that he knew of no rule of evidence which would make such letters admissable.

Bowe testified he had received the documents after he had got out of jail and explained their coming through Japan by explaining that he had expected to go to America, spending some time en route in Japan, and had notified all his correspondents to address him there. His agent in Japan, S. Kurgoe, had opened the mail, he said, so that if there was any Japanese business he could attend to it at once.

Bowe then testified that he had had a disagreement with Moench and accounted for Moench's testimony against him because of that disagreement. Moench, he said, had been stabbed by another man on board ship and had had the man arrested. He kept him in jail for five months and said he would keep him there until just before Judge Lobingier returned from the United States, he said, as long as the government paid him witness expenses.

"Moench knew that I knew the facts and because I told him I was going to report to the American authorities he got sore," Bowe said. He had a Chinese following me all the time from March 17 to April 26 and finally came to me and told me he'd fixed it so I couldn't do business any longer in Shanghai."

Cross-examined by Mr. Husar Bowe asserted that the names of the two companies had been decided upon by one of the promoters at the New York conference and that the companies were supposed to have been incorporated in June. They were not, however, and he was intending going to America in December to settle the matter.

In answer to question Bowe said he didn't keep copies of much of his correspondence and none of his letters to Mandeville so he did not have them now. He admitted he had not acknowledged receipt of the contracts despite the fact that a number of months had since elapsed.

It is the custom to print insurance policies in Shanghai rather than in the United States?

I dont know. I'm not an insurance man.

"CANCEL" OR "CANCELL"

Mr. Husar then tackled the letter concerning Mandeville and the contracts themselves and asserted both had been written here in Shanghai and were merely figments of Bowe's imagination. He asked Bowe how he spelled 'cancel,' Bowe replying 'cancell' at first and then correcting himself. Mr. Husar then asserted that all through the contracts cancel had been spelled 'cancell' and check had been spelled 'cheque' which was the British practice in China and not the practice in the United States.

Peking-Paotingfu Rail Men Strike

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, August 24.—Ostensibly owing to the dismissal of Mr. Wang, the chief of the General Department of the Peking-Hankow Railway, the working staff of the Peking-Paotingfu section struck this morning.

It is generally believed, however, that the action was taken in sympathy with the Peking-Suaiyuan Railway strikers. The headquarters of the former strikers are at Changhsintien, where the Chinotungpu this morning sent Mr. Chang Erh-kang, the inspector of that section, who travelled by special train, accompanied by armed police.

Traffic is held up today at this end of the line but it is expected that Mr. Chang will soon induce the men to resume work.

The Ministry has also sent Mr. Chou Teh-san, Chief of the Railway Department, to pacify the employees of the Peking-Suaiyuan Railway bureau. Mr. Chou has also been appointed acting Director of that railway in the place of Mr. Chen Chi, whose dismissal the men demanded.

Peking, August 25.—The Peking Suaiyuan Railway staff strike has ended through the explanation that Mr. Chen Shih-hua was a former director, that the railway had contracted the Taikang loan about which they had agitated and that Mr. Kuo Eng-hung was in no way concerned with it.

The Peking-Hankow Railway strike continues.

Two hundred strikers yesterday stopped a through train from Hankow at Changhsintien, boarded the train and came on to Peking where the railway police persuaded them to return to Changhsintien.

This morning a party of 20 reached Peking, they also were sent back by the railway police.

Yesterday, General Liu Mengkeng, Governor of the Metropolitan Area, sent Mr. Wang Ping, a magistrate, to Changhsintien to endeavor to reach an agreement with the strikers. The Magistrate has not yet reported progress.

Both parties of strikers expressed their intention of demanding the release of three of their leaders who were arrested at Changhsintien.

HONAN BANDITS

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, August 25.—Later reports regarding bandits' activities in Honan show that the two kidnapped foreigners were members of the railway construction staff. The bandits forced the French engineer to write to the Lunghai Railway authorities stating the terms on which he would be handed over.

It is reported that these bandits killed a Japanese girl and also sacked and burned Lingpohsien.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, August 25.—Official reports from Ichang say that foreign shipping between Chungking and Ichang has run the gauntlet of the First Army troops stationed on the riverside between Wanhsien and Fouchou with the object of cutting off their defeated enemies from Chungking. These troops have shown a readiness to make targets of foreign vessels and threaten to stop the traffic. Up to the present three foreign casualties have been reported.

CASTORIA
for Infants and Children.
Save the Babies.

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twenty-two per cent, or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirty-seven per cent, or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save a majority of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium, or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy and retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. Castoria operates exactly the reverse. It causes the blood to circulate properly, opens the pores of the skin and allays fever.

The signature of Chas. H. Fletcher guarantees genuine Castoria

Physicians Recommend Castoria.

"I have used your Castoria in cases of colic in children and have found it the best medicine of its kind on the market."
J. E. SIMPSON, M. D.,
Chicago, Ill.

"Castoria is good for children and I frequently prescribe it, and always obtain the desired result."
F. GERALD BLATTNER, M. D.,
Buffalo, N. Y.

"A medicine so valuable and beneficial for children as your Castoria is deserves the highest praise. I find it in use everywhere."
J. S. ALEXANDER, M. D.,
Omaha, Neb.

"I have prescribed Castoria to families for several years. It is all right. Mothers like it, for children will take it without any trouble."
C. A. WILDER, M. D.,
St. Louis, Mo.

"Have used your Castoria on various occasions in suitable cases and have found it a palatable and efficient laxative, especially in the various diseases of childhood."
CHAS. EDWARD GARDINER, M. D.,
Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Your Castoria is a splendid remedy for children, known the world over. I use it in my practice and have no hesitance in recommending it for the complaints of infants and children."
J. A. BOARMAN, M. D.,
Kansas City, Mo.

CREDITORS WANT REIDS, LIMITED, HELD BANKRUPT

Judge Lobingier Takes Case Under Advisement After Hearing Arguments

Arguments were heard by Judge C. S. Lobingier in the United States Court for China yesterday on a petition of creditors of Reids Limited who are asking that the liquor concern be declared bankrupt. At the hearing Mr. Robert T. Bryan Jr. appeared for Giesel and Company. The Oriental Press and Little Brothers and Mr. Paul F. Faison appeared in support of the petition on behalf of Mr. Li Hing of Hongkong, another creditor.

Mr. Bryan asserted that Reids, Ltd., was indebted to Giesel & Company, a German liquor firm, to the extent of Tls. 130,333.40, to the Oriental Press for advertising, printing, etc. to the extent of $3,657.31, and to Little Brothers, Ltd. for liquors to the extent of Tls. 7,368.70. The petition was made, Mr. Bryan said, because the creditors were not satisfied with the way in which the official receiver, Mr. W. P. Strickland, had conducted the receivership. Mr. Strickland, he said, was appointed receiver because of the firm's insolvency on November 22, 1921 and that since that time the receiver has conveyed and transferred a part of the assets to the Chinese-American Commercial Bank, and a large part of its property to one of the individual creditors, the Mercantile Bank of India. The actions, Mr. Bryan said, tended to deprive other creditors, including his clients, of their rightful interest in the firm's assets.

MAKES CHARGES

Mr. Strickland had allowed an attachment on the property for $10,907 by the Chinese-American Bank, Mr. Bryan said, and then when Mr. F. J. Schuhl, then United States Commissioner, had changed the order concerning the deposit of assets Mr. Strickland had changed from an American bank, which was within the jurisdiction of the court, to the Mercantile Bank of India thus committing two acts of bankruptcy. The Mercantile Bank, he said, claimed to have a lien on the firm and at the present time were in possession of practically all of the firm's assets. His clients therefore desired the firm to be declared a bankrupt instead of insolvent, Mr. Bryan said, so that all the creditors would be able to realise on their claims.

Mr. R. S. Haskell of Rodger & Haskell, appeared on behalf of Mr. Strickland, the receiver, and opposed the petition denying that any acts of bankruptcy had been committed, and denying specifically that the receiver had in any way transferred the assets with intent to hinder, delay or defraud the creditors or give preferences to certain creditors.

PETITION OPPOSED

Mr. Haskell declared that the total liabilities of the firm amounted to $494,546.38 and that there would be a loss of $147,981 to the creditors. The receiver, Mr. Strickland, had transferred the assets to the Mercantile Bank, he said, under a court order, and by doing so had saved the creditors between Tls. 4,000 and Tls. 3,000. The bank, he said, had made a proposition to Mr. Strickland whereby if he would deposit the assets with them they would save him the Tls. 400 per month for godown and other administration expenses and would protect him from any loss.

Judge Lobingier remarked that bankruptcy proceedings were very cumbersome and expensive and suggested that the receiver wind up the affairs of the company and distribute the proceeds among the various creditors. In that way he said it appeared that about 40 cents on the dollar could be paid. On the other hand, he said, bankruptcy proceedings would eat up more of the assets.

The petitioning firms, who are the largest creditors, opposed the suggestion, however, on the grounds that their interests were suffering because the Mercantile Bank had practically all the assets and was not subject to the receiver's jurisdiction. Judge Lobingier took the matter under advisement.

Miss Twigg Wins First Prize At Masquerade Ball

(China Press Correspondence)

Kuling, August 21.—The crowning event of the Kuling social season took place here last week, when a masquerade ball was held at the Munster House. Much ingenuity was shown in the production of the costumes, practically all of the two hundred guests having taken the trouble to appear in fancy dress. First prize was won by Miss Evely Twigg of Shanghai, who was effectively disguised as a Chinese amah. Other prizes were awarded to Miss Levtchuk, who wore a white tulle ballet dress and to Miss Halmovitch, whose costume of brown cloth and dried grass made her an authentic-looking hula-dancer. The dance was held in the new dancing-pavilion behind the main building of the Munster Hotel.

The success of the masquerade will probably result in making it an annual event.

Three Ask Wu To Oppose Tang Shao-yi

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, August 24.—It is reported in fairly reliable Chinese quarters that Admiral Tu Hai-kwei, Mr. Chang Ying-hua, the Acting Minister of Finance, and General Chang Shou-tseng have sent a joint telegram to General Wu Pei-fu, asking him not to oppose the nomination of Mr. Tang Shao-yi, but to let Parliament decide the question of the Premiership.

SUN HUNG-YI FOR PREMIER; TANG'S NAME WITHDRAWN

President Completely Yields To Demands Of General Wu Pei-fu

(Dah Tong News Bureau)

Peking, August 25.—Parliament has agreed to return the nomination of Mr. Tang Shao-yi as Premier upon request of the President. Dr. Wang Chung-hui will be permitted to relinquish his acting premiership. General Wu Pei-fu favors the appointment of Mr. Sun Hung-yi as premier while General Tsao Kun proposes to have General Chang Shao-tseng organise the new Cabinet. Negotiations are being carried on between Loyang and Paoting.

President Li has practically accepted all the conditions of General Wu Pei-fu, including the appointment of Sun Hung-yi as premier, the resignation from the Cabinet of Chang Yao-cheng and Lo Sun and the appointment of Sun Tan-ling as Minister of Interior. However, on the question of the civil governorship of Hupeh, the Chief Executive still favors Admiral Tan Shan-ming.

Following exchange of views conducted by General Chang Fu-lai, the feeling between Tsao Kun and Wu Pei-fu has been appeased. However, the aspiration of Tsao to secure the vice-presidency of the country is not endorsed by Wu. Therefore complete understanding between the two chieftains of Chihli is impossible.

With the assistance of General Wu Pei-fu, Kao En-hung, Minister of Communications, will return to his position. The educational interests in Peking are also yielding on account of the compromising attitude of President Li.

Tang's Nomination Sent Back By M. P's

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, August 25.—Parliament yesterday sent back President Li Yuan-hung's nomination of Mr. Tang Shao-yi as Premier on the ground that it contained extraneous comment, namely, it pointed out that when a Premier was appointed the cabinet could take over the duties of the Presidency and allow him to retire. Parliament insists that the appointment of a Premier and the retirement of President Li Yuan-hung are not connected. When the time comes Parliament will give due consideration to the Presidency.

Demonstration By Railway Workers

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Aug. 22.—The staff of the Peking-Suaiyuan Railway yesterday became infected with the strike epidemic, owing to the report that a foreign loan had been obtained by the Ministry of Communications secured on that railway.

The men made a demonstration before the two Houses of Parliament. Their complaint was received by the two Secretaries.

"The Verdict of the Great Public" has again been given in our favour. It is the only verdict we are concerned about. Our Sales this year have increased at top speed, due to our downright and open policy in the preparation of our making them the most popular on the market. Bluff will not work with the Public these times, so let any doubting Thomas' come down here to have it proved to them.

This result has been the more gratifying as there apparently has been an organised conspiracy to deprive us of it. The expected slump did not materialise.

It is one of the "Penalties of Success."

We thank the Public for their continued support and apologise if there have been any delays at the height of the season.

Mellon Disputes British Premise In Debt Question

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, August 24.—A further contribution to the war debts controversy has been made by Mr. Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury, stating that the suggestions that Britain's liability to America had been incurred on behalf of the other Allies were evidently based on misapprehension.

He declares that on the contrary the United States had not required any Government to give obligation for advances made to cover purchases by other Governments. Thus the advances to Britain were to cover her own purchases.

Sailor's Will On His Identification Disc

(China Press Service)

London, August 3.—Strange as the story of any document told in fiction is that of a will which has just been admitted to probate and is now filed in Somerset House.

It is the "last will and testament" of a sailor, William Skinner, who lost his life when his ship, the Indefatigable, was sunk in the battle of Jutland. It is in the form of the ordinary identification disc. On one side, in the usual deeply-punched letters, appears the name, number, rating and religion of the man to whom it had been issued.

On the other side the disc appears at first sight to be just a circular piece of smooth, polished brass. But when viewed at a certain angle, there can be seen about 75 minutely engraved words. With a miscroscope they can be plainly read. They constitute Skinner's will by which he bequeaths everything to his wife. The disc had been recovered from the sea with Skinner's body and on being cleaned revealed its secret.

Spot Bar Silver was up ⅛d and Forward ¼d in London yesterday.

The New York price advanced to 69⅝ cents and the London-New York cross rate is unchanged at 447½.

The only change in our quotations here today was a rise in the Franc rate to 990.

Our local market, while a little uncertain at the opening, became firm during the course of the day.

In the early morning business in Sterling was done at 3-5½ for near deliveries and 3-5 9-16 for forward.

Gold Dollars, were done at 77½ for near deliveries and 77⅝ for forward.

However, later in the day the rates steadied up further and in the afternoon business (a fair amount) in Sterling was done at 3s. 5⅛d. and in Gold Dollars at 78. The market closed with buyers at these rates for near delivery and probably for forward also, and with sellers at 3s. 5⅜d. and 77⅞ for any delivery until the end of the year.

Some business in Yen was done during the afternoon at 61¾ but there were more buyers than sellers at this rate. While some Sterling Bills were placed in the morning at 3s. 6¼d. and Gold Dollars at 79, banks were quoting 3s. 6½d. and 79½ in the afternoon.

There were practically no buyers of Franc Bills at any price.

China bought silver in London yesterday and India sold. The market closed steady.

The New York market was also reported steady with more buyers than sellers.

Austrians Nervous Moved By Rumors

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, August 24.—M. Seipel, the Austrain Chancellor, has left Berlin for Vienna.

Official Italian circles state that Italy will make every effort to assist Austria and will invite the Allies to co-operate to this end.

Sir William Goode has addressed an appeal to the Allies to take steps to aid Austria. He declares that he is convinced that she can be saved with comparatively little effort.

Germans Buying Old Ships To Make Into New

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 24.—It is stated that negotiations are progressing for the sale of further important tonnage to Germany.

The Times estimates that 13,000,000 tons of the world's shipping over 20 years old cannot normally be long kept out of the shipbreakers' yards.

The Germans are apparently ready to buy many of these ships, the material from which may be used to build new German vessels to compete with the British.

Assembling the Z.R.1

The mooring mast.

PREPARATIONS are well under way at Lakehurst, N. J., for the completion by the Navy of the new giant dirigible ZR-1 rigid type airship designed by American engineers. The new airship was modeled after the German Zeppelin l-49, brought down almost intact in France during the war. It will be 675 feet long, 78½ feet in diameter, with six engines and a speed of 70 miles an hour. Photograph shows view of the immense cradle which forms the base for the construction of the ship and the mooring mast, 150 feet tall, to which it will be tied when out of its hangar.

Italy Is Ready To Assist Austrians

(Reuter's Service)

Vienna, August 24.—The slightest provocation suffices to create awkward situations in the present nervous tension of the population. Whirlwind demonstrations arise and die down in quick succession.

As an example 3,000 unemployed, dissatisfied with the dole which had been recently increased, were peacefully demonstrating before the Parliament House when a baseless rumour that the Socialist leader, M. Adler, had been murdered was circulated.

The crowd thereupon forced the entrance, smashed the furniture, used fragments as weapons against the police and demolished the balustrade around the building.

The police drew their swords and dispersed the disturbers.

Sees Vast Air War In 20 Or 30 Years

BY JOSEPH W. GRIGG.

London, July 7.—Vision of a race in air armaments eventually leading to war were raised this afternoon in the House of Commons on second reading of the Washington Naval Treaties Bill.

There was regret that the Washington Conference had not been able to limit air armaments. Charles Amery, Parliamentary Secretary of the Navy, said the British Government hoped to secure practical limitation of armaments, on land and in the air.

Serious pressure is now being brought on the Government to strengthen the air force. The Committee of Imperial Defense is closely studying the whole problem of air defense of the British Isles.

But there is a strong element which believes the Government ought to take the initiative in calling a conference similar to the Washington Arms Conference, to try to prevent the threatened race in air armaments.

I am informed that the Government is not now contemplating such a parley.

It is felt that France, with her fear of Germany, would not consent to such a limitation, and it is believed she would demand as the price for such a curtailment of air armaments a definite pact of alliance, which would now receive little support here.

Admiral Sir Reginald Hall, Chief of Intelligence of the British Navy, during the war, said in the House of Commons that France would not consent to a limitation of air armaments, and he saw in Germany and Russia two powers able to have great air fleets. Before any such limitation was possible, he declared, it would be necessary to get all the great powers to agree to it.

Lestrange Malone thought the next war would be twenty or thirty years hence, when a great attack would take place with 1,000 or 2,000 bombing planes, and London would have to "hands up." He said the British air fleet is so crippled today it could not bomb Paris with ten planes, but that Paris could send hundreds to London.

Much indignation was caused in the House by the absence of the Prime Minister and other members of the Government at the second reading the Washington Naval Treaties Bill.

New European States Doing Well

New York, July 1.—Returning yesterday on the President Taft of the United States Line from a Continental tour of three months, which included attendance at the Genoa conference, Oswald Garrison Villard, editor of The Nation, said that the progress of the new States created as a result of the war was the most encouraging feature of the European situation.

"All the States the bulk of whose population is rural are doing well because of the successive years of good crops," he said. "The peasants everywhere are extremely prosperous. Poland is making marked gains, not only materially but in increased efficiency in government, notably in the management of their railroads.

Mr. Villard thought that the German economic and financial situation was getting steadily worse, just as that of Austria was approximating the situation in Russia and expressed disappointment with the cause of France.

Mr. Villard left two days before the assassination of Dr. Rathenau at Genoa.

"He gave it as his personal belief," said Mr. Villard, "that if help were not soon given by the Allies and the United States in the settlement of the reparations problem and the granting of a loan, there would be very serious fighting in Germany before the Summer was over."

W.H.C. SUPER-DURABLE FLAT PAINT
FLAT WALL FINISH

A perfect Paint of smooth surface for Interior Wall Coating

The surface obtainable with this paint is smooth and flat, i.e., it is not a grainy, dead, lifeless finish, but of a velvety texture. It dries in a reasonably quick time, so that work can be carried out effectively, yet has the property of remaining open long enough to enable the worker to cover a large surface of wall without making laps or edges.

Excellent results with Super Durable Flat Finish are easily obtained, irrespective of the skill of the user, and an elaborate preparation of the surface is usually quite unnecessary.

Super Durable Flat Finish has been tried on non-absorbent surfaces of all kinds and where distemper and oil paint have proved prone to shell or flake off, it has always adhered. It gives a lasting finish of surprising beauty.

1 Imperial Gallon covers about 130 square yards one coat.

The Crisis In Europe

IN view of the present terrible crisis in Europe, as revealed in the messages which we publish today, it is timely to have at hand, from the New York Times, a part of the speech which M. Georges Clemenceau recently delivered at the commencement exercises of the Lycee of Nantes, of which the war Premier of France is an alumnus.

M. Clemenceau spoke at the unveiling of a tablet to the memory of his fellow-graduates who died in the war. L'Illustration brings us a stenographic report. The address is one of only three which the Tiger has delivered since the Versailles conference. Though informal always—rambling with octogenarian ease from familiarly humorous counsel to the poignant tragedy of the last threshold—the accustomed fires gleam everywhere, most of all in a half-unconscious and therefore impressive confession of present political faith.

A previous speaker had said that France is the product of Grecian culture, and M. Clemenceau approved the saying, specifically repudiating the more direct ancestry of the Romans—who seemed to him too much like the enemy across the Rhine. But the thought found a strange sequel.

"We are the France in which Louis XIV., after astonishing conquests, ended in defeat; the France in which Napoleon went out at Waterloo; the France in which, one day, after a new defeat, we lost Alsace and Lorraine. I have said that the dead speak to us, they speak loud and clear, telling all the magnificence of their hopes. I who also speak to you—I have lived, from 1871 to 1914, fifty years of grief and humiliation. I thought I should die without ever again setting foot in Metz and in Strasbourg—and yet the fates have willed otherwise."

The train of thought starts off in another direction. "Ninety-three men of science in Germany signed a document attesting that they had a right to violate the territory of Belgium—the sanctity of which they had attested by their signatures." None of them have risen to say that they have been traitors to the truth. If they had, "then we should have bowed before German probity, but that act of recognition has been refused us." Words of praise follow for the dauntless and invincible valor of the armies of France—recognition also of the timely aid of the Allies. The world has done its duty and France is victorious. But the theme of French Hellenism, of French conquest ending in defeat, does not recur.

A personal note intervenes. "I'd really like to know just how you look on me—is it as an old owl that a farmer has nailed up on his barn? Very well! Since the old owl can still beat his wings and remember that he is the bird of wisdom, he would like to tell you something you can take home with you!" So he speaks to the young folk humorously, kindly, inspiringly, of their studies, of their professors, of life in the world—a commonplace commencement homily. Then he passes once more to the personal note, with a quotation from Socrates—this time, as we are told, with his eyes brimming. "It is time that I return into silence. We are parting forever, I to die and you to live. Only the gods know which has the happier lot."

That evening at a dinner of the graduates the unnamed writer for L'Illustration returned to the theme of the glories of war and of peace. Again the reputed Tiger saw himself as an old wise bird, marked for death yet speaking wisdom. "We must spend every energy to preserve peace . . . We do not need the life of glory. Yet we wish to live in honor; it is not right for the victor to carry himself as if vanquished. To preserve peace we should do the impossible—but let it be known that there are limits we will not pass!"

Something To Think About

BY FABIO DEAN

Mr. James Risk, aged sixty-eight, proposed marriage to a lady of forty, and was accepted. His proposal was made in orderly, business-like fashion in writing.

"You and I are no longer children," he wrote, "and know that there are other things in life beside love and kisses. I cannot give you the bloom of young manhood, but somehow I feel I can give you something of greater value."

Well, the court has just handed down a decision which busts up this marriage higher than Kelley's kite. Mrs. Risk brought the suit on the ground that her husband had abandoned her after she refused to give him love and kisses.

The old geezer ds well named. Marriage ds always more or less of a risk, but for a man of sixty-eight—it's worse than stock gambling on margins or trying to beat the wire-tapping game. His fundamentals, you see, are all wrong.

Upon the threshold of marriage nothing but love and kisses count. This ds a law made, not by legislators or by experience, but by Lady Nature. The man who takes unto himself a wife on the basis of those "other things," opens the front door merely to find himself in the backyard.

Mr. Risk's other proposition, however, is really interesting, and we would like enlightenment on the subject. What—from the standpoint of impending matrimony—is of greater value than the bloom of youth? It surely isn't a bank account or worldly wisdom or impaired digestion or a collection of antique furniture. What can it be?

Risk, old boy, we're afraid you were talking through your hat. The man of sixty-eight who turns up his nose at the bloom of youth is either making a bluff or is mentally unfit. No man outside of a lunatic asylum would refuse to give all his wordly possessions in return for the gift of youth that has vanished.

We could quote you the words of poets and philosophers. Instead, you poor Risk, we will tell you something we once saw.

A rear-admiral of the Italian navy, retired at the age of sixty, unexpectedly inherited a great fortune. He built himself a great castle on the hill overlooking Genoa and furnished nearly a hundred rooms with tapestries, paintings, rare furniture and all the other trappings of luxury. His own bedroom, however, consisted only of four bare walls, an iron cot, bare floor and two windows in the shape of a ship's portholes. You see, he wanted to be reminded of the cabin he used to sleep in when he was a lieutenant on his first battleship.

And on the wall, at the foot of his bed, in letters of Solid gold metal, was fastened a short poem by the famous Frenchman, Alfred de Musset, beginning,

"Where hast thou fled, O my youth!"

Freedom

BY THE SPECTATOR

Perhaps more nonsense and sheer ignorance has been manifested in the desire of freedom than in mankind's craving for any other good thing.

And even inhumanity, tyranny and bestiality.

"O Liberty! What crimes have been committed in thy name?"

The child imagines that liberty consists in getting loose from his mother's apron strings and out from under his father's authority; when as a matter of fact it is the help he gets from father and mother that is the foundation of any true liberty he shall ever find in the world.

The workman supposes that liberty is not having to obey a boss; when it is really the intelligent direction of the boss that keeps him from the slavery of confusion.

The soldier dreams that his greatest liberty is when he is out on leave and can roam around and get drunk as he pleases; whereas it is only the discipline he gets from his officers that makes him of any account as a soldier, and that many a time saves his neck.

We picture to ourselves that liberty is not having to work; but those who have nothing to do but play all the time are the most unhappy of slaves.

And the whole world of fools conceive that liberty is somehow being relieved from the restraints of conscience; whereas it is conscience alone that makes the world a decent place to live in.

It is the ignorant impulse of freedom that makes men drink whiskey, smoke opium and eat cocaine. The effect of these drugs is to paralyse those last and finest products of evolution within us, that is to say, our moral inhibitions.

Evolution has been at work for a good many thousand years, creating the finer moral restraints which alone make human society possible. The drunkard or the dope fiend kills these with his drugs. He has then the sense of being free. For a while the poor fool is happy, as a man is happy that has been released from the responsibilities of manhood and has become a beast.

The trouble is that he is not a beast. He remains a soul. And when he becomes a maimed soul he is introduced to the tortures of a deeper bondage.

Freedom rightly understood is the most desirable thing in all the world. But few people rightly understand it.

One form of freedom we all need to strive for is freedom from the tyranny of things.

In our Western civilisation human beings have become slaves of machines, in fact we have worked out a complicated mechanism of industry under which the ordinary man has little freedom, either of motion or for development. We live too artificially.

You can easily see this if you think on how much trouble it is for you to travel. The average woman, for instance, if she has to take a trip to another State, or to Europe, requires several weeks' preparation. There are clothes to be made and furniture to be packed away, and an infinity of things to get ready. How many people do you know that could pack their grip and take the midnight train tonight to be gone a year without any qualms of conscience?

Our stomachs have no freedom. Most of us have got to eat certain things. I know some people who are slaves to butter, others are slaves to coffee and others are slaves to hot bread. How few have trained themselves into liberty to such an extent that they can go anywhere and live on whatever the local people have to eat and be happy!

All freedom begins in discipline, self-control and the ability to endure hardships. Foundation of freedom is the delight of overcoming. The foundation of slavery is the delight of yielding and being coddled.

A man that has developed a constitution that scorns heat and cold and damp, that does not have to have a fire in his room nor sleep in a feather bed nor have several changes of clothing every day, such a man has some right and title to be called a free man.

Many of us are under the tyranny of clothes. I know one woman who put in most of the three months which she spent in Paris selecting hats. She already had thirty-two hats. She really had a good head of hair and did not need any hat at all. She was possessed of the hat devil.

I even knew a man who, when he went to spend the season in London, took with him sixty-three pairs of trousers. He had to have an expert to keep them in shape. Think of an immortal soul consuming its divine energy in the task of deciding which pair of pantaloons to wear today!

Berlin Learns What We Eat

BY MARIE C. CHOMEL

Berlin, (by mail).—If a few thousands of America's thirsty would only come over here and help drink up Germany's wine crop, what a relief it would be to those of us who have no desire to guzzle a bottle with every meal.

Say you do not want wine, repeat it and asservate it—the waiter just stands there and looks at you. It does not percolate into his head that you really mean it. So he turns another page of his wine list and begins to translate.

"Try a little moselle," he says, in a wheedling tone. "Or a bottle of this goo-goo wine. Well, then, what you drink? Water? Oh, yes, a bottle of mineral water. Plain water, you say. Do you mean p-i-e-i-n w-a-t-e-r?"

The Quakers who are here in Berlin acting as the agency for the American Relief Administration are the only people I know who have planned out a system that honestly works. They have established the plan (now recognised in all restaurants) of adding a small tip to their bill, in lieu of the waiter's profit on the wine. The Quakers, it should be added, are all volunteers, acting without pay.

Last night I unconsciously gave the waiter a shock that nearly did for him. I ordered fried ham. For Sunday night dinner, at that. He could not convince himself that he had heard aright. Did I really mean it? Well, did I desire fried eggs as well? When he was requested to add cauliflower, his manner painly said that he'd see the thing through, though he doubted if any good German had ever had such an adventure.

The simple truth was that I could not read a single word of that horrible bill of fare and when an American is in doubt he always orders ham. Besides its reliability, he likes ham. All about me were people eating those interminable course dinners in which Europe revels. About two such dinners—and then take it away.

Yesterday the waiter became quite eloquent in his recommendation of strawberries. I agreed—provided he would have them washed. Oh, certainly. He explained that a finger bowl was provided with fruit, and the finicky person might dip his own. Still, if madam wished them washed—

Decidedly, madam did. So the waiter reached over for a finger bowl and began to dip the berries.

"No, no; wash them. Take them to the kitchen and turn the water on them."

The water disappeared. In a few minutes he came with a broad grin and displayed his berries. He agreed that madam was right in insisting on having the berries washed, for he had found a surprising lot of dirt. Departing behind a screen, he returned bearing a glass fruit dish.

"Here's the water in which the berries were cleansed, and madam can see for herself how dirty it is."

The berries were most alluring, and a night a deal was made with the waiter to wash another dish of them. "We strive to please—Americans," is that man's motto.

At the next table sat a dignified Englishman. He was something official, and observing that I spoke English, offered a courteous remark. My berries arriving, he glanced at them and noted that they had their stems removed, while his had not.

"Mine have been washed," I explained.

"Oh, now, you have quite spoiled things for me; I shawn't be able to eat mine," he said, disconsolately.

He looked so like a rueful child that I suggested he have his berries bathed. A fine idea, and he brightened up.

I should like to know where Continental Europe gets the idea that Americans live by eggs alone. I dislike eggs exceedingly, yet I have eaten dozens of them—perhaps because I am too tender hearted to endure the disappointment of waiters who are always so positive I do want eggs, even when I assure them solemnly that I do not want eggs. The waiter looks at you sorrowfully, says "No eggs?" and then hopefully suggests some eggs.

"No eggs. Bring bacon."

"Bacon and eggs," brightening up. And so you give it up and accept the inevitable—and the eggs.

Perhaps this seems to be quite a good deal of talk about waiters. But it is not too much considering the important part they—and eating—play in the European's daily life. How they manage to eat so much and so often is one of the fascinating puzzles Europe offers to Americans abroad. And it is not difficult to understand why they become skeptical of starving Europe. However, the crowded restaurants of the expensive hotels tell only half the story. Those who are eating the big meals today are the profiteers from every country in the world. One has only to listen to the babel of tongues.

As a rule, American tourists order plain food, in contrast to the natives, who begin with hard-boiled eggs with mayonnaise, sardines, a bunch of radishes, cold meat—and then order a regular meal.

Fancy having the waiters wheel three tables, each three feet square, over to your place in the restaurant for you to choose hors d'oeuvre. It's like an inspection of an enormous delicatessen counter.

In the afternoon the cafes and coffee-drinking places are crowded. Apparently, every person who has the price of a drink—with a fancy sake—visits an open air cafe late in the afternoon. Yesterday, after watching these gay, laughing drinkers I went to a place where another kind of group was having something to drink. Hundreds of nursing and expectant mothers stood in line at the American kitchen for their hot drink—a steaming bowl of cocoa. They did not look much like the cafe crowds, those shabby, patched women.

THERE is a distinguishing feature in the business of the house of HAIG & HAIG. Most Distillers have various brands of varying qualities. HAIG & HAIG have one brand only, and they claim (and the public acclaim) that it is the finest that goes from Scotland.

It is a regrettable fact that all retailers have not the same high standard of commercial honesty, and it is known that cheaper brands are sometimes passed on to the public under the label of houses of high repute.

When you see a genuine bottle of HAIG & HAIG Five Stars Scots Whisky it will be the same fine quality in London, in Lucknow, or in Labrador; in the Langham Hotel, in the G.O.H. at Colombo, and in the best Clubs in Cape Town.

Haig & Haig Five Stars Scots Whisky

A second quality Haig & Haig could not be filled into a Haig & Haig bottle because there isn't a second quality.

Haig & Haig is also known easily by the fact that you pay a little extra for it.

Say HAIG & HAIG or you may get a cheaper brand substituted.

Why The Lusitania Is At The Sea Bottom

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS

Eminent Astronomer and Authority on Subjects of Scientific Interest.

"Engineers are discussing the possibility of raising the Lusitania, which they say is about 600 feet below the surface of the water. Please explain whether it is possible for the Lusitania to be at equilibrium at that depth, or whether it is necessary for the boat to sink to the bottom to reach equilibrium. What caused the boat to move three-quarters of a mile since it was sunk?—H. S., Chicago."

You are evidently bothered by an erroneous notion which is forever recurring in the same form and which no amount of explanation seems to be able to banish from many minds, viz., that a ship sinking in the sea does not go to the bottom but remains suspended part way down. This persists in the same way as the equally erroneous notions that when an automobile turns a corner it is the outside wheels that tend to rise from the ground, and that the moon in travelling around the earth does not rotate on her axis.

When the engineers say that the Lusitania is 600 feet beneath the surface they mean that it lies on the bottom at that depth. The sea is very shallow at the place where she went down, just as it is shallow for a hundred miles or more outside of New York bay. The engineers know very well that the Lusitania could not remain suspended, or be "in equilibrium," anywhere above the bottom, because her weight, when her interior compartments are filled with water, is greater than the weight of a quantity of water equal in bulk to the solid parts of the ship. If the ocean had been six miles instead of 600 feet deep at that point the Lusitania would have gone to the bottom.

The erroneous notion in this case seems to be based on the supposition that water becomes highly compressed at great depths, so that its density there is greater than that of heavy solids. But it is a peculiarity of water to be very slightly compressible. At a depth of a mile the compression of the water amounts to only about one one-hundred-and-fiftieth of its bulk or volume, although the pressure at that depth is about 163 tons to the square foot. Recent experiments at the Jefferson Physical Laboratory have shown that even at a depth of eighty miles the compression would be only one-fifth of the bulk.

Air, on the other hand, is very compressible, so that in ascending in the atmosphere the density of the air rapidly decreases, but this is not the case with water. Yet, notwithstanding the increase of density of the air with approach to the ground, the silken envelope of a balloon falls quite swiftly when the buoyant gas is withdrawn from its interior, because as soon as the balloon has shrunken into a mass of undistended silk its specific gravity, or weight per unit volume, is greater than that of the heaviest air. Much more must a mass of iron and steel sink in the sea until it reaches the bottom for there the increase of buoyant force with depth is, as we have seen, very slight.

The fact that the Lusitania is sought at a place about three quarters of a mile from the spot where she disappeared in sinking is not to be taken as indicating that she has been floating part way down instead of touching bottom, but only as showing the drifting action of ocean currents upon her while passing from the surface to the sea bed. There are strong ocean currents along almost all coasts, and their general direction and force are known to navigators. Effects from such currents may be felt at depths of several hundred, or in some cases of thousands, of feet. The rocks on the bed of the Gulf Stream near the straits of Florida are thoroughly scoured by the swift current.

Still, it is likely that there was practically no movement of the Lusitania after she reached the bottom. The current drifted her during the time that she was settling down, but not longer, and if she went a horizontal distance of three-quarters of a mile in that manner before reaching her bed it shows a strong current, for a steel ship once started for the bottom does not go slowly, judging by the plunge that usually opens the tragedy.

The Week's Market Report

COTTON

In their weekly report on the Shanghai cotton market, Messrs. A. B. Rosenfeld and Son write as follows:

China Cotton:—Fluctuations in the cotton market during the past week have been within a rather narrow range of prices. Although trading continued fairly active, operations were of a more professional than general character. Under the circumstances, the course of prices has been without any special significance, although it must be noted that in the face of continued favorable weather conditions for the growing crop, and renewed bear pressure from local interests, prices have shown a resisting tendency and the net change for the week has been a moderate advance.

As to the crop outlook, evidence has been accumulating that the long period of favorable weather which has prevailed practically throughout the Belt, has been instrumental in bringing about a marked improvement in its condition. This may especially be said of the Kiangsu and Chekiang Provinces, where the present outlook, with a late Fall, would seem to justify the expectation of an average yield although our reports from the Yangtsze Valley, Shansi, Shensi, Shasi and Honan Provinces are by far less cheerful and continue to maintain that the improvement has been disappointing. It should not be overlooked that the dangers of further deterioration from climatic conditions in that portion of the Belt are also great.

While the technical position of the market may offer opportunities for occasional scalping operations, the progress of the crop will continue to be the chief basis for important price changes.

New York:—August 23 (Wednesday). Private Cotton Crop Estimate at: 60 percent of normal and the total crop: 11,000,000 bales as compared with previous estimate, published on July 24 of: 73.5 percent of normal and the total crop at: 11,950,000 bales.

Yarn:—The market during the past week has been keeping steady, prices declined some Tls. 1.00 to Tls. 2.00 as compared with last week. New business for export some 7,000 to 8,000 bales has been recorded in all 20's, 16's, 14's, 12's and 10's. From present indications a steady market is looked forward to for the near future.

SPUNT'S REPORT

Messrs. J. Spunt and Company write as follows in their report on the cotton market:

China Cotton:—Our market during the past week was practically devoid of any transactions for spot deliveries and comparatively few commitments may be recorded for distant months. Prices, however, remained in a steady position notwithstanding the paucity in the demand for the staple and which steadiness may to some extent be ascribed to the firmness now evolving both in Mid-Americans and Indians.

With regard to the trend of prices on the local staple in the near future, it is difficult at this time to give any indications either one way or the other as there are two important factors to be taken into consideration and, namely: weather conditions during the fruiting and picking period and the extent of the demand that will arise for the local growth on the part of our industrious neighbor whose attention to the China fibre will naturally become more concentrated commensurately with the rising values in both Mid-Americans and Indians. Extreme vigilance therefore is advisable in noting such developments from day to day in order to take advantage of suitable rates for immediate or future requirements. Tone of the market, Steady.

HAIRNET

Messrs. Yannoulatos Bros. (China) have received the following cable advice from their Chefoo head office on the hairnet market:

The buying of double capnets for America has continued during the week. Stocks of same, however, are very light and as supplies are still small there is a shortage in the market.

According to reports from the producing centers it is estimated that only 25 percent of the hairnet makers are actually working on hairnets. An increase in the production of double nets, however, is expected during September.

For double nets the market is firm, and for single nets quiet.

PONGEE SILK

The China Merchants Pongee Association have received the following cable advice from their Chefoo head office on the pongee silk market:

The market has been quiet but steady during the week under review. There is a demand for some qualities.

As stocks are now practically exhausted, we are all looking forward to the new cocoon crop, which will soon come on the market.

HANKOW MARKET

The British Chamber of Commerce at Hankow write as follows in their weekly circular dated Hankow, August 16.

FINANCE

Bar silver declined from 34¾ on the 10th instant to 34½ on 15th, and rose again to 35 ready and 34⅞ forward on 16th inst. The New York-London cross rate was quoted at 445¾ on August 10 and rose to 446½ on the 11th instant and closed at that figure at the week end. The official T.T. rate remained at 3s. 5¾d throughout the week. Business during the week was again on a very limited scale. T.T. on Shanghai was done at 97 but no Bank was a willing seller at this rate. Chinese market rates: Shanghai Tls. 96.8375. Local currency $70.225. Native interest: 5 percent per annum.

EXPORTS

The week under review was extremely lifeless and very little, if any, buying was done in any line of produce. Local tael prices continue steady.

IMPORTS

Piece Goods:—The market remains quiet with little if anything doing. It is pleasing to note however that there are signs of a revival, and it is hoped that our next report will show an improvement in conditions.

Yarn:—Nothing of interest.

HONGKONG SHARES

Messrs. Moxon and Taylor of Hongkong write as follows in their weekly report on the share market dated Hongkong, August 18:

Our market opened fairly brisk but has eased off during the last few days and closes quiet with very little doing.

The Shanghai market is unchanged.

Rubber continues neglected.

The following are the principal alterations since last week:

Hongkong Banks:—These shares continue in good demand and were done as high as $875 ex dividend, but on the rise in exchange eased off a little and close with buyers and sales at $870.

Unions:—Are rather quieter with buyers at $200 and sellers at $202.

Hongkong Lands:—Are in good demand and have few if any sellers.

Humphreys:—Have been the medium of a fair business at rising prices and close with buyers at $13.80 after sales at $14.

Cantons:—Are inquired for at $445.

Hongkong Fires:—Are wanted at $385.

Douglases:—Are slightly easier with buyers at $52.

Hongkong Hotels:—Are quiet and few if any shares have changed hands during the week.

Dairy Farms:—Are in good demand and have risen to a buying rate of $23¼ Old and $22¼ New.

Hongkong Wharves:—A good many shares have changed hands at $140-140½ and close steady with few shares offering.

Hongkong Docks:—After firming up close a little easier with sellers at $167½.

Hongkong Trams:—Declined slightly during the week and close with buyers at $15 after sales at $15.15.

China Providents:—Have been quiet during the week and few shares have changed hands.

Chinese Women To Entertain Solons

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, August 22.—The Association for Women's Political Rights is going after its aims just as actively as ever it can. A circular letter is now out announcing a public meeting for Sunday at the Government Law College.

The purpose of this meeting is the entertainment of as many members of Parliament as can be gathered there. Each member of the Association is requested to introduce all the M. P.s that they know and to send in the names of those that they are bring by next Thursday. A large crowd will be prepared for as curiosity to find out what the women want will bring a crowd.

Self-Government For Peking To Wait

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Aug. 22.—Although it was definitely decided some time ago that local self-government should be established in the Peking Municipality on September 1, and that the Municipality should meanwhile be placed under control of the Ministry of the Interior, it now appears that a municipal government cannot be established by the date set.

The Ministry of the Interior will consequently remain in charge of the administration until January next.

POLITICIANS AT PEKING BUSILY SEEKING PLUMS

Shantung Commissionership Looks Attractive Just Now

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, August 22.—While the bigger fry fight over the Cabinet and the Premier, another lesser group of Parliament cast about for other jobs in which to land their favorites. Apparently the Shantung Commissioner's post looks good and a bill is supposed to have been prepared and ready for submission to Parliament calling for an investigation of the conduct of Dr. C. T. Wang.

Certain members of Parliament when interviewed on this subject, intimated that the difficulty probably arose over the fact that another member of Parliament, Mr. Ting Fu-yen is desirous of getting Dr. Wang's position for himself. There is also alleged to be an element of pique because Mr. Ting's relatives did not share in the apportioning of staff jobs with the Commission.

Another explanation of the present attack was suggested to be the fact that between his work as Commissioner and Chairman of the Constitutional Committee of the Senate, Dr. Wang has been so occupied that he had to refuse interviews to some of his old colleagues. However, the bill is not on the agenda for the next meeting of Parliament and it is felt that the agitation will die a natural death.

That the talk about the work of the Shantung Commission is still rife, is borne out by a leader in the Jen Ming Pao today. This in part says:

"Lately persistent rumors have circulated among the Japanese residents of Tsingtao that Dr. C. T. Wang, Director General of the Shantung Commission and likewise the Japanese Minister Obata would resign from the Commission and that the negotiations would never be brought to a successful ending in the time stipulated by the Washington Treaty. This would delay the actual handing over of Tsingtao to the Chinese.

"It is also reported that a certain group of politicians in Tsinanfu have organised with the express purpose of getting Dr. Wang out of office. After that they plan to have appointed a man of high standing and good reputation whom they would prevent from ever taking over office. This action could be repeated until they finally get some man who will be a mere puppet in their hands and Tsingtao will be theirs.

"If the Japanese were guilty of such a scheme it would be very bad, but for the Chinese themselves to do it while the negotiations are going on, is certainly very harmful to their cause. Moreover, Dr. Wang has carried out his duties as Commissioner energetically and with great enthusiasm.

"The feeling is common that a certain party wishes Dr. Wang's office and has conspired with a set of Japanese of bad repute to create rumors in order to embarrass the conference between the Japanese and Chinese, whereby their own base schemes would work out. If this trouble is carried on then the prospects of achieving anything worth while will certainly be gloomy."

Peking Worried By Wu's "Butting In" On Politics

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, August 21.—General Wu Pei-fu's continued telegrams and suggestions to the Central Government along political lines have been severely criticised as being a peculiar policy for a man who claims he does not intend to meddle in politics. To justify this position, the vernacular press report that General Wu has laid down a set of don'ts for his own guidance the following of which gives him the right to class himself as a private citizen interested in a good government. His dont's are: I do not want to be President, Premier, Minister, Tuchun or Civil Governor.

Under the freedom gained by carrying out this rule, the General is said to have again addressed himself to President Li Yuan-hung asking that all possible steps be taken to induce Dr. Wang Chung-hui to formally organise and run the Cabinet. In addition to this request, he is also supposed to have made inquiries concerning the furnishing of a sum of money to General Chang Tso-lin, and the purposed solution of the Civil Governership of Hupeh.

Dr. Wang Chung-hui did not stay in the Western Hills as was predicted by some sides, thereby making his absence a tacit resignation. He returned to Peking last night and it was learned from the Cabinet Office today that although he has drawn up his resignation papers, they are still with the secretaries in that office and have not been presented to the President. If the militarists keep hands for a while, Dr. Wang will endeavor to run the Government as long as possible otherwise he seems determined to get out.

Kao En-hung, the absent Minister of Communications sent the representatives of the President, Cabinet and Ministry of Communications, back to Peking without a definite answer as to his return to the Capital. He is supposed to have said that he would probably arrive in Tientsin today and would telephone Mr. Wu Pei-huang as to the exact time that he would arrive in Peking. When this service went to press the Ministry of Communications still had received no intimation of Minister Kao's movements.

Political gossipers immediately got busy on Kao En-hung's departure in an effort to say who would be his successor. Two names freely mentioned as the choice of Tsao Kun are Liu Meng-keng, the Mayor of the Metropolitan District, and Wu Chiu-fang. Paoting is claimed to be giving President Li a choice of the two. It is understood that Liu is a close adherent to Marshal Tsao but a strong enemy of General Wu Pei-fu. On the other hand Wu Chiu-fang is in favor with both Tsao and Wu. However, the report runs that President Li favors the former which will naturally make General Wu rather angry and tend to more completely cut off his power in the Capital.

A personal representative of General Wu Pei-fu is on his way north and unless he lingers at Paoting should be here tomorrow. The purpose of this visit is to try to settle the difficulties which have been getting steadily worse and worse since the split occured between President Li and General Wu over the appointment of Tang Hsiang-ming to the Civil Governorship of Hupeh. Lu Hsin, who has accepted the portfolio of the Ministry of the Interior in direct opposition to General Wu's telegram, is said to have made a statement that he had no desire to become an official but since General Wu called him a scoundrel and a swindler he was determined to take up the office just to prove that he was not.

Troubles continue to pour in on the Ministry of Finance. No money thus far as proved itself available for the Wang Cabinet and Kao Lin-wei appears to have definitely refused to take office. The Vice Minister in charge has been scurrying around trying to pinch dollars out of nothing with practically no success. Today the employes of the Cabinet threaten to begin a strike at two o'clock unless they are paid and there certainly is nothing with which they can be paid.

Sun Has Fixed Up Beautiful Scheme, Is Peking Belief

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, August 22.—A happy solution of the political squabbles both between the north and the south and between Paoting and Loyang is brought out in the rumored results of a conference held between the agents of those two war lords and Dr. Sun Yat-sen.

According to the report, it is all nicely cooked up that Dr. Sun will come to Peking and be elected President by the lawful act of Parliament, which will contain the members of the Kuomintang which Dr. Sun will bring with him. For Vice-President Marshal Tsao Kun is selected.

Immediately after that has been done, Dr. Sun will go abroad, the excuse not yet having been evolved, thereby leaving Tsao Kun the Vice President in charge of the Govermnent.

The military will be appeased and Dr. Sun's face will be saved and the rest of the world to whom China means Sun Yat-sen will think that all is rosy in the country.

With the influx of the Kuomintang, Parliament will naturally be a little flush in the way of membership and the alleged agreement provides that it shall be weeded out to conform to the lawful number, without mentioning what factions will be weeded and who will do the weeding.

It is also understood that the lesser posts will be evenly distributed between the adherents of the north and south, share and share alike.

To substantiate the veracity of this getting together, it is claimed that a circular telegram will be sent to the Provinces in a day or so announcing what has been reached and declaring that it is the way to the much talked about uniting of North and South China.

PARMENTIER TO DISCUSS DEBTS

He Goes To America To Explain How France Expects To Pay

HOPEFUL OF EASY TERMS

So Long As German And Russian Debts Stand America Must Wait

Paris, June 24.—At the Quai d'Orsay it was announced this morning that M. Parmentier, an expert of the Finance Ministry, will sail for America on July 2 aboard the Savoy on his mission of explaining to the United States Debt Commission "how France intends to pay her debt to America."

What proposals M. Parmentier will make to the debt commission are, of course, as yet uncertain, as much will depend on the attitude which he finds in America. At present his intention is simply to play the part of a debtor toward his creditor and explain the exact position of his country. That that explanation will show that France is not in a position to pay her debts so long as she cannot collect what is owing her from Germany and Russia is certain. And when that has been done the real argument will begin.

But it is certain that French hopes are still highly placed, that America will not prove a hard creditor. Every taxpayer here understands perfectly the attitude of American taxpayers with regard to what is owed them and the consequent attitude of the Government.

With regard to Germany the French Government is in exactly the same position as the American Government is in regard to France. Yet there does exist in the back of the Frenchman's mind the memory that his debts were contracted with friends and that the money owing him is owned in retribution. In that way the two cases are not viewed as parallel and they become less than ever a parallel when the suggestion is made that the German debt be reduced and France still be called on to honor her signature.

Nearly all of today's political papers carry articles on that theme, apropos of Mr. Lloyd George's statement in the Commons on Thursday and in comment also on the article by Bernard M. Baruch in The World's Work, which has been reproduced in the French press.

"If," says, for example, Jacques Bainville, the Nationalist writer, "it is as Mr. Baruch says, a good thing that the debtor should pay, then France cannot do better than start herself collecting from her debtors what they owe—not only from Germany, but from her other debtors to whom she loaned money during the war. Let us all send bailiffs around, and at least we will have this compensation—that something like the truth will be re-established and the foolish hypocrisy demonstrated of such formulas as the reconstruction of Europe, which have an idealist allure and only serve to conceal the simple-mindedness or treason of some and the egoism of most of the others."

This bitterness of expression is not, however, so much caused by Mr. Baruch's article, which has had a warm reception from Andr. Tardieu and others, as it is by Lloyd George's statement. In it most Frenchmen seem to see a warning to France that if America consents to easy terms for France and not for England then the British Government will reply with a request to France to pay her dues.

Whether that be a true interpretation, it certainly has excited opinion here on the eve of M. Parmentier's departure, for in this matter of debts the French always see the instrument of diplomatic pressure which though America may not use England is prepared to use to the utmost.

"And all the threads," says Henry Bidouin the Figaro, "are to be found in Washington, and toward the unknotting of the tangle the visit of M. Parmentier is only the first step."
